

Green Parenthesis

In your books can you write your own parenthesis to these sentences, using brackets.

- 1) Very few people had seen the princess because she had never come down from the mountain, and they had never been up it.
- 2) Ramona never came down from the castle and all the messages were sent down by paper dart.
- 3) You may think that we needed to save the princess at the top of the castle.
- 4) If you were to rescue the princess Ramona, then it would be frightening as you would have to face the trolls, wolves, witches and the man-eating unicorn.
- 5) Ramona was due for marriage, but despite the best efforts of her parents, no suitable husband could be found.

EXTENSION-

Can you write a paragraph about Luke and his quest he must take? You must make sure that you use parenthesis within your work.

Luke, who was.....

Blue Parenthesis

In your books can you identify where the brackets go around the parenthesis within the sentence.

- 1) The rules for marriage were the usual weird rules that people used in those days. You know, like rescuing a princess from a castle at the top of the mountain. But men tried, nevertheless.
- 2) Then there were the Wild Wolves of Black Fen, the Dragon of doom and most frightening of all the Giant Man-Eating Unicorn That Nobody Had Ever Seen.
- 3) Her name was Ramona and she lived on top of the mountain which was very high in the sky.
- 4) Ramona thought that she would be left in the castle for all eternity and no man would rescue her or so she thought.
- 5) The elders have many superstitions, such as the last apple falling off the tree would bring trouble, when the moon is red that's the time for darning socks and the most annoying one of all there will be bad luck if a black cat crosses in front of you.

EXTENSION-

In your books can you write your own parenthesis to these sentences, using brackets.

- 1) Very few people had seen the princess because she had never come down from the mountain, and they had never been up it.
- 2) Ramona never came down from the castle and all the messages were sent down by paper dart.
- 3) You may think that we needed to save the princess at the top of the castle.
- 4) If you were to rescue the princess Ramona, then it would be frightening as you would have to face the trolls, wolves, witches and the man-eating unicorn.
- 5) Ramona was due for marriage, but despite the best efforts of her parents, no suitable husband could be found.

Red Parenthesis

EXTENTION-

In your books can you identify where the brackets go around the parenthesis within the sentence.

- 1) The rules for marriage were the usual weird rules that people used in those days. You know, like rescuing a princess from a castle at the top of the mountain. But men tried, nevertheless.
- 2) Then there were the Wild Wolves of Black Fen, the Dragon of doom and most frightening of all the Giant Man-Eating Unicorn That Nobody Had Ever Seen.
- 3) Her name was Ramona and she lived on top of the mountain which was very high in the sky.
- 4) Ramona thought that she would be left in the castle for all eternity and no man would rescue her or so she thought.
- 5) The elders have many superstitions, such as the last apple falling off the tree would bring trouble, when the moon is red that's the time for darning socks and the most annoying one of all there will be bad luck if a black cat crosses in front of you.