Josh sulked. Then he got the bean bags. He threw one onto the roof. He threw two over the wall. He put one in the bin. The teacher didn't see him do it, but his friends saw him.

"Now we've got no bean bags to play with," they said.

"You are naughty. We don't want to play with you anymore."

7. Who saw Josh throwing the bean bags?

- the dinner ladies
- his friends

- his Mum
- his teacher

8. Josh's friends didn't want to play with him because they thought

- he was silly.
- he was funny.

- he was naughty.
- he was too rough.

Josh was cross. All afternoon no-one talked to him. No-one played with him. No-one shared their crisps and sweets with him.

At home time Josh ran out to his Mum and started to cry.

"Gosh, Josh," said his Mum. "What's wrong?"

"I've got no friends," said Josh and he told her what he'd done.

"That was naughty," said his Mum. "You must say you're sorry to everyone."

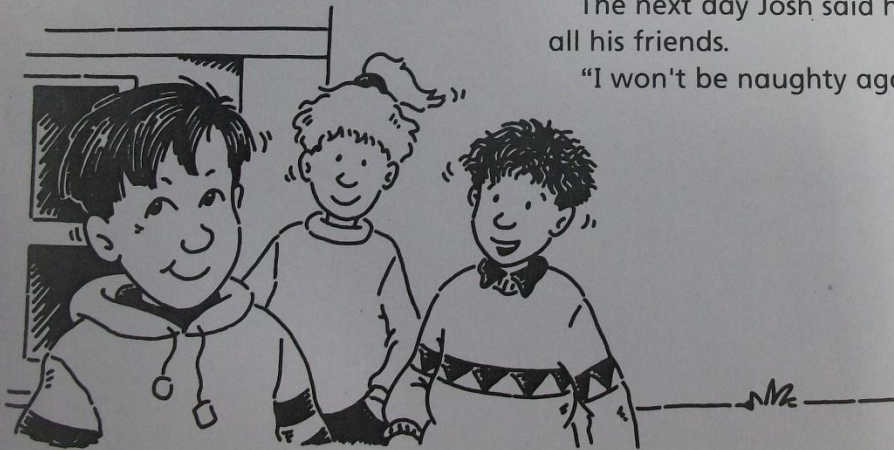

9. Josh was upset because

- he had a toothache.
 he had no friends.

- he had no bean bags.
 he had no sweets.

10. What did Josh's Mum tell him to say to everyone?

- Hello. Thank you. I'll be good. I'm sorry.

The next day Josh said he was sorry to all his friends.

"I won't be naughty again," he said.

11. Do you think Josh was naughty again?
