

Metaphorical Meaning Activity

Metaphors in the following text have been underlined. Discuss the author's intent in using metaphors by answering the questions below.

Singing Sensation Stuns Sutherby

Local teen Amina Ashraf has taken the nation by storm after appearing on the hit primetime show The Greatest Talent.

Amina, aged just thirteen, courageously performed in front of twelve million viewers live on Channel 8 last Saturday. The pupil at Sutherby School, whose parents would describe her as 'quieter than a mouse', stunned onlookers with her booming vocals and impressive scales during her performance of Sing Your Heart Out. The auditorium erupted into sound and the applause was reported to have been heard from over half a mile away.

"She has the voice of an angel," Simone Coal – the contest's lead judge – was reported to have said before smashing her hand onto the golden klaxon faster than a cheetah could have pounced on its prey. "Her performance took me completely by surprise."

Amina, overwhelmed by the response she has received to her performance, expects her popularity to skyrocket over the coming week, with her debut single smashing its way through the charts.

"Hollywood is calling my name," she said humbly. "Everyone will remember my name."

For each question, circle the correct answer:

1. 'by storm' was used by the author to give an impression of excitement

sadness

happiness

suddenness

2. Amina was described as 'quieter than a mouse' to demonstrate how her performance was expected

unexpected

loud

quiet

3. 'erupted' was used by the author to show that the noise from the audience was

slow and steady

sudden and dramatic

calm and quiet

4. Amina was described as having 'the voice of an angel' to explain that her voice was

loud

quiet

beautiful

awful

Metaphorical Meaning Activity Answers

Metaphors in the following text have been underlined. Discuss the author's intent in using metaphors by answering the questions below.

Singing Sensation Stuns Sutherby

Local teen Amina Ashraf has taken the nation by storm after appearing on the hit primetime show The Greatest Talent.

Amina, aged just thirteen, courageously performed in front of twelve million viewers live on Channel 8 last Saturday. The pupil at Sutherby School, whose parents would describe her as 'quieter than a mouse', stunned onlookers with her booming vocals and impressive scales during her performance of Sing Your Heart Out. The auditorium erupted into sound and the applause was reported to have been heard from over half a mile away.

"She has the voice of an angel," Simone Coal – the contest's lead judge – was reported to have said before smashing her hand onto the golden klaxon faster than a cheetah could have pounced on its prey. "Her performance took me completely by surprise."

Amina, overwhelmed by the response she has received to her performance, expects her popularity to skyrocket over the coming week, with her debut single smashing its way through the charts.

"Hollywood is calling my name," she said humbly. "Everyone will remember my name."

For each question, circle the correct answer:

1. 'by storm' was used by the author to give an impression of

excitement

sadness

happiness

suddenness

2. Amina was described as 'quieter than a mouse' to demonstrate how her performance was expected

unexpected

loud

quiet

3. 'erupted' was used by the author to show that the noise from the audience was

slow and steady

sudden and dramatic

calm and quiet

4. Amina was described as having 'the voice of an angel' to explain that her voice was

loud

quiet

beautiful

awful