This is Floatella

We moan and groan

Floatella has two step sisters called Moaner and Groaner.

They do not like to help and they make Floatella do all of the work.

I can boast.

Moaner and Groaner are the best!

Floatella's step mum isn't much better! She boasts about her daughters all the time.

I am much fitter than you!

We moan and groan

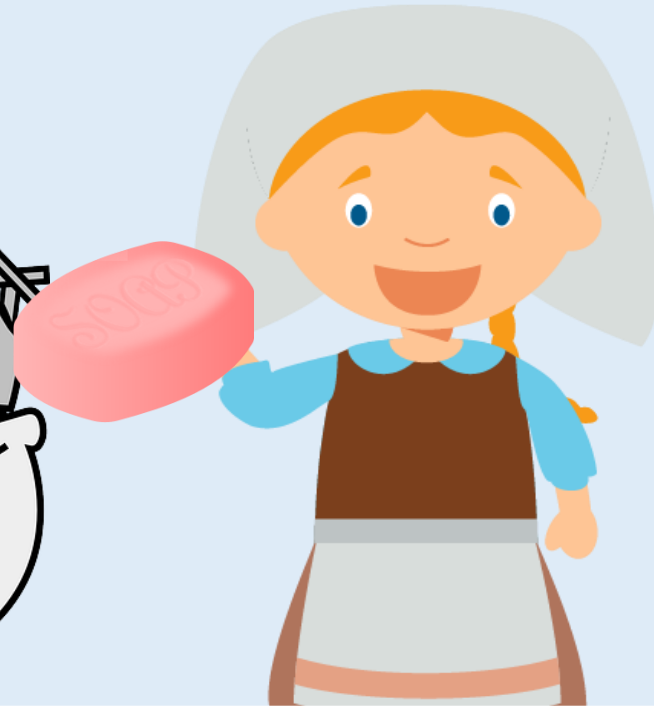

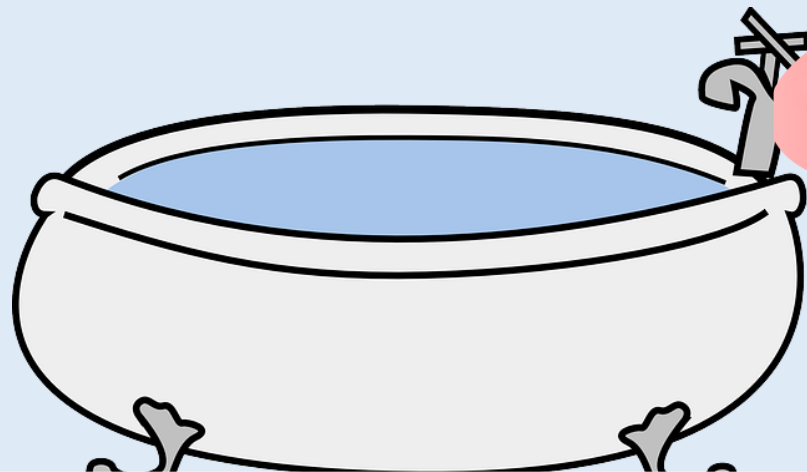

Moaner and Groaner were always boasting.

In the summer they got a letter.

Everyone was invited to a royal dinner and ball, but Floatella's Step mum will not let her go.

Get me the soap.

Moan and Groaner were getting ready for the ball.

That hurt you oaf!

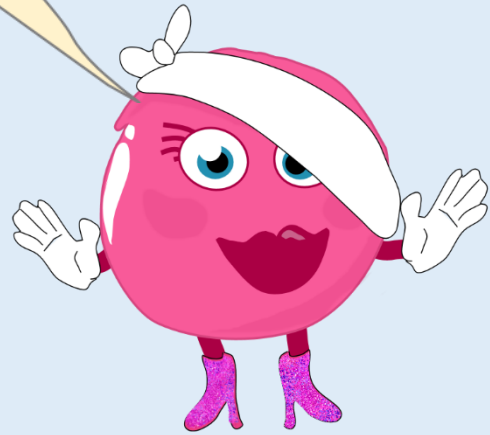

Floatella helped helped Moaner and Groaner.

Floatella is upset that she can not go to the Royal dinner.

Better not weep. You will go to dinner!

Miss Oh No is a fairy godmother, she will help Floatella.

Miss Oh No turns the toads into horses.

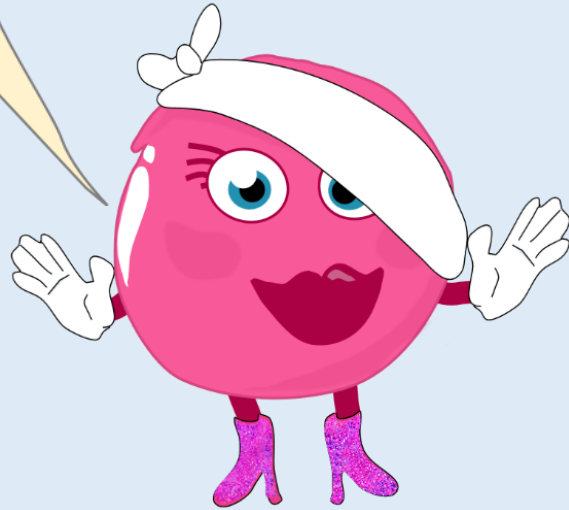

This will be a coach

Miss Oh No asks Floatella to bring a pumpkin from the garden.

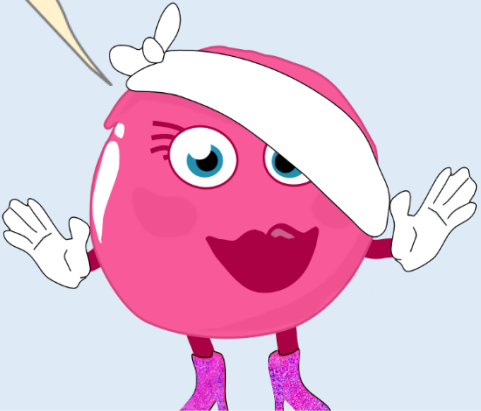

Bring me a goat.

The goat turns into a coachman, Now he can drive the coach.

The [✨]dress will float.

Miss Oh No makes Floatellas dress beautiful.

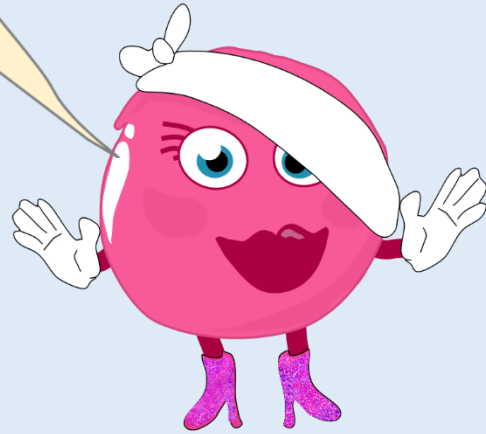

And a cloak!

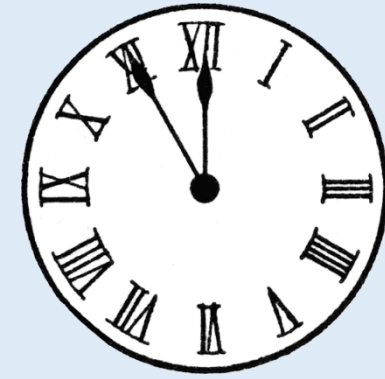

Miss Oh No gives one more thing to Floatella, a wonderful cloak that matches your blue eyes.

Better be on the road at 12 o'clock.

Miss Oh No tells Floatella that the magic will end at midnight.

He saw her at dinner.

The Royal dinner and ball was amazing! The prince met Floatella and they danced all night long.

She runs across the moat.

Oh no! She drops her cloak.

The clock strikes midnight. The spell is wearing off. Floatella runs home because she does not want the prince to see her in rags.

He sees the cloak

The prince wants to find Floatella. He declares that he will marry the girl whose eyes match the cloak.

Moan^{er} and Groan^{er} have a plan.

Moaner has sunglasses, Groaner has contact lenses. They try to trick the prince.

This is a load of rubbish.
It is not you.

The prince is not fooled, he knows they are not the girl with blue eyes to match the cloak.

It is Floatella!

The prince finds Floatella! Her eyes are blue and match the cloak.

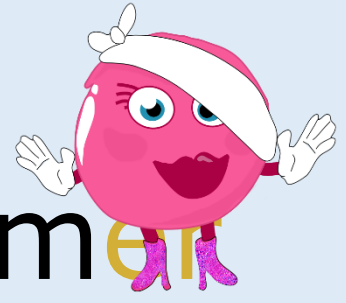

They get married and live happily ever after.
